Dixon, she leaves her daughters, Kelsey Cote and her husband Raymond, Kaitlyn Massey and her partner Ryan McCarthy and grandchildren, Ian Dixon, Rebecca Dixon and Lauren Cote, all of Westfield. She is survived by her sisters Darlene Demorad of Suffield, CT, Laurie McMahan (Terrence) of Westfield, MA, Cynthia Hazelton of Buxton, ME, Tammey White (Kim) of Easton, ME and sister-in-law Donna Dixon of Sykesville, MD, eight nephews, Michael Martin (Catherine); David Dixon; George Dixon (Kelly); Kyle White (Chelsey); Conner McMahan (Jordan); Sam Hazelton (Meg); CJ McMahan (Diana); and Tom Hazelton (Sara) and their families, many great-nieces and great-nephews, many dear cousins. “ I visited Mary exactly one week prior to her passing and she exuded positivity about enjoying improved health and she shared her plans for when her health improves. Now I am saddened to hear of her passing. Mary, you've always been a joy to spend time with. My recall of our conversations brings laughter to me. You will be missed definitely by me. Unfortunately, our maker has another plan for your life. Enjoy the peace and tranquility that you deserve at this juncture in your life. To Mary's relatives, loved ones and friends, I offer my sincere condolences. Just know that Mary would have loved to have more time with all of you but her passing though untimely, allows her to continue to be that light in our lives.

“ My memories are my life with the Dixons, Mary Ellen seemed to be the one I remembered the most, she would come and stay with us as her and Nora were the same age I could go on but I must say her passing brought tears to my eyes and great pain in my heart. She is better now with your family on the other side.
