“ I wish we were able to spend more time, but I will hold on to the last time we spent together forever. Not seeing you in your chair or knowing your upstairs is strange now. I wish things did not have to be this way but I know this is some type of blessing that I have yet to understand. I made a promise to you at your bedside in your time of need and I will make sure I keep it. Tell Grandma and Granddad I said I love them and one day we will all meet again. Love you daddy
